

Self-Directed Brokerage: Vanguard

Vanguard is the recordkeeper for our self-directed brokerage option. TD Ameritrade administers participant accounts. The participant's self-directed brokerage account is administered by TD Ameritrade. Vanguard began offering brokerage services to institutional plans in 2002. Today, to keep pace with the rapidly evolving marketplace and deliver a more sophisticated user-friendly experience to our clients, Vanguard teams with TD Ameritrade, one of the most recognized and decorated brokerage platforms in the industry.

This relationship exemplifies Vanguard's commitment to recordkeeping and providing clients with a world-class brokerage experience. Participants and advisors will receive robust trading and planning tools, a broader menu of securities, and third-party research from industry leaders—all of which seamlessly integrate with their existing experience on Vanguard's website.

The TD Ameritrade Self-Directed Brokerage Account (SDBA) provides world-class SDBA services to retirement plan sponsors and their participants. Its open architecture platform gives plans the flexibility they demand, while offering unbiased technology. Plan sponsors and their participants will enjoy the ease of use and innovative technology for which TD Ameritrade is known.

TD Ameritrade is highly focused on delivering exceptional service. Its corporate core values include client centricity and integrity, which you will find evident in every interaction with their team. They work hard to maintain a high satisfaction rate among both plan sponsors and their participants, and they pride themselves on being a company that listens and adapts to their clients' needs. They understand the importance of selecting the right SDBA provider. Through Vanguard's strategic relationship with TD Ameritrade, you can be confident that you are working with a leading provider of SDBA.

Roth assets are eligible for investment and will require a separate brokerage account to be created with TD Ameritrade.

TD Ameritrade's investment configuration allows 403(b) plans to select from a broad array of mutual funds. TD Ameritrade is able to enforce investment restrictions at the provider, plan, or participant level. For 403(b) plan sponsors, TD Ameritrade has a mutual fund-only office code to ensure accurate oversight. When restrictions are implemented at a plan level and decided by the plan sponsor, any new SDBAs opened within the plan are automatically assigned the restrictions.
