Join us for an in-person 2-day interactive course that will be offered from May 17 to 19, 2023, at the Emory Public Health campus.

Lead faculty for the course will be:

- M. Daniele Fallin, PhD, Professor, Epidemiology
- James W. Curran, Dean of Public Health
- Professor, Behavioral, Social, and Health Education Sciences (BSHES)

The course will explore challenges in health disparities and the science of uncertainty, and ways to enroll, and critical thinking skills.

Create an account and register for classes today!