

Anne Davis

Senior Associate Director, Advancement & Alumni Engagement

Tell us a little about the work you've done at Emory throughout your career.

I began in Corporate Relations at Emory in 1996, though at the time Advancement & Alumni Engagement was called Institutional Advancement. We've had a few iterations of the name in between. I worked for a brief time as office manager for the Graduate Institute of the Liberal Arts, but the rest of my time has been in fundraising.

What are some of your favorite memories of your time at Emory?

Carlos Hall 2nd floor is a hidden gem - a lovely place to hang. Then and now.

What are some of the most significant changes you have witnessed over the course of your career?

Buildings certainly, but more so a change in ME. I was fortunate enough to be introduced to the courtesy scholarship and made my way semester-by-semester through Emory College, receiving a degree in Theater Studies in December 2016.

Is there anything you miss from "back in the day"?

Jagger's Tavern in Emory Village.

Anything else you would like to share?

I actually started at Emory several months prior to my hire date as a temporary secretary in the Nell Hodgson Woodruff School of Nursing, back when it was located in what is now called the EUH Annex. My boss at the time was Sandi Dunbar, who may not remember me a bit, but she allowed me to explore permanent job opportunities on campus and I'm forever grateful.
